

An Introduction to Cultural Safety in Aboriginal Health Training for Students Grant Application Guidelines 2019

Background

In collaboration with Victorian Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisation (VACCHO), RWAV is offering grants for students to attend “An introduction to cultural safety in Aboriginal health for students”. The grant covers course registration and lunch. This does not include travel and other expenses which need to be borne by the student.

Applications

Applications will open on Tuesday 12 March 2019 and close on Monday 25 March 2019 at 9:00 am. Late applications will not be considered. Notification of outcome will occur within two weeks of applications closing.

Eligibility

Students must be studying for a degree in medicine, nursing or allied health disciplines at a Victorian University campus.

Preferences

- Preference given to those who have completed or are completing Clinical Placements in a rural location during their degree. Rural locations are defined as MMM 2-7.
See <http://www.doctorconnect.gov.au/> for MMM 2-7 location information.
- Preference will be given to those who show a good understanding of rural and Aboriginal health and commitment to working in a rural and/or Aboriginal health setting upon graduation in their responses.
- Preference will be given to those who are a member of a Rural Health Club if one exists at their university.

Requirements

- Students must be available to attend the full day workshop at VACCHO in Collingwood either on Wednesday 3 April 2019 or Thursday 4 April 2019.
- Whilst RWAV aims to provide an excellent service, if students have any concerns about our services, students are required to read the RWAV Complaint Management Policy document <https://www.rwav.com.au/contact-us/complaint-policy/>. Any complaint must be reported to the Future Workforce Program Officer on FutureWorkforce@rwav.com.au.
