

Rural Allied Health Support Program

Guidelines 2019-20

Introduction

The Rural Allied Health Support Program (the program) supports allied health practitioners working in public, primary and community health services in rural Victoria to access educational, professional and skill development opportunities. Practitioners working in the private health sector are not eligible for this program.

The program aims to improve access to health and human services for rural and regional Victorians through:

- improved access to professional development and education for allied health practitioners.
- building allied health workforce capabilities and quality.
- increased recruitment, retention and career progression opportunities for allied health practitioners.
- improved provision of allied health services that meet the health and wellbeing needs of the community.

The program is administered by the Rural Workforce Agency Victoria (RWAV) on behalf of the Victorian Department of Health and Human Services (the department).

Program funding

The program consists of two funding streams:

- Professional development, and
- Postgraduate study.

The program is designed to support and subsidise practitioners undertaking professional development and postgraduate study, as opposed to providing full cost recovery.

In accordance with public funding guidelines, original receipts must accompany all program applications and subsequent funding claims.

The total funding pool available in 2019-20 is capped. In the event that program funding is exhausted before the end of the financial year, a notification will be posted on RWAV's website advising of this outcome.

Professional development

From 1 January 2020, the department will limit the provision of support under this funding stream to:

- a) Attendance at the annual conference of the professional association aligned to the applicant's discipline background and/or professional role
- b) Activities that contribute to the provision of the high quality and safe care prescribed by the National Safety and Quality Health Service (NSQHS) Standards, specifically:
 - preventing and managing pressure injuries
 - preventing falls and harm from falls
 - nutrition and hydration
 - preventing delirium and managing cognitive impairment
 - predicting, preventing and managing self-harm and suicide
 - predicting, preventing and managing behaviours of concern

Applicants may apply for program funding to subsidise one or more of the following expenses:
